The Inside Game: By Hugh S. Fullerton

Photograph showing hit and run play. The runner has been ordered to start for second base as soon as the pitcher begins his next swing. He is already a third of the distance toward second while the ball is little more than halfway to the catcher. The second baseman is rushing to cover second, where the catcher will throw the ball, providing the batter misses it.